Smith began her duties there recently and she hosted a get-together for clients on Thursday evening (Feb. 1).

Located in beautiful downtown Newberry, the Edward Jones office includes her private office and an area for young children to enjoy playing with toys and coloring books.

Nancy Henry is the branch office administrator who is assisting Smith with scheduling appointments and by performing other support staff functions.

Smith said she remains active in the Tri-County Area of Levy, Dixie and Gilchrist counties where she continues at her same home, church and with the Rotary Club of Gilchrist County.

Previous clients can feel free to visit with her at the Newberry office, and Smith welcomes new clients.

The welcoming event in the office on Thursday evening included delicious hors d'oeuvres and drinks.

Two members of the band named Musical Slaughter performed.

Sheila's and Chris' son Jake Smith, one of six of the Smith couple's children, played guitar and sang as fellow band member Robert Mummaw who sang and played on his drum set.

The two young gentlemen performed a variety of pleasant songs in the background during the festive get-together.

All of the Musical Slaughter band are also members of the Bell High School Purple Powerhouse Marching Band. The other members of Musical Slaughter are lead female vocalist Morrigan Pinkston, and on keyboard -- Ty D'mont.

Helping people with financial matters and investing is what Sheila Smith does at the Edward Jones office in Newberry.
