

HardisonInk.com

Bronson and Williston celebrate MLK Day

Williston conducted its Martin Luther King Jr. activities on Jan. 19. Here, Brandon Peters shows the colors in front of the truck for the newly organized Levy County Democratic Party on that Saturday in Williston.

Information and Photos

Provided By Drollene Brown

Published Jan. 25, 2019 at 9:38 a.m.

LEVY COUNTY -- As shown in HardisonInk.com, people celebrated the accomplishments of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Chiefland and Cross City.

And there were celebrations of a similar nature all across the nation. Below are some photos and information from MLK celebrations in Williston (Jan. 19) and Bronson (Jan. 21).

In Williston, Tobias Blake heads his car onto Noble Avenue, leading walkers for the Democrats.

HardisonInk.com

In Williston, walkers for Citizens for an Engaged Electorate lead the CEE car. Seen here are (from left, rear) Kim Wheeler, Drollene Brown, Sue Vogt, Michele Belew and Barbara Byram.

In Williston, the Ministerial Faith Alliance float, showing the parade's theme "Better Together."

HardisonInk.com

---

In Williston, Citizens for an Engaged Electorate (CEE) members Sue Vogt (left) and Drollene Brown (right, center) stand with Krystal Wilcox and Elder Glen Gates after they registered to vote, while they were at the MLK event held at Cornelius Williams Park. Wilcox and Gates said they had waited many years for this day.

In Bronson, Vietnam veteran John Goad speaks to the Bronson gathering about MLK's courage, humanity and love—qualities so lacking in some leaders today.

HardisonInk.com

---

Braving the cold, individuals march in Bronson to celebrate the life and inspiring messages of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

In Bronson, people share stories of love