Successful Beautify Bronson Day bodes well for future events

Bronson Town Manager Sue Beudet (left) noted her appreciation for all of the people who volunteered their time to make the first-ever Beautify Bronson Day a success on Saturday (Oct. 23). Mark Kjeseth is seen here preparing to put a bag of debris in the dumpster too.

About 20 people volunteered, including the individuals seen above. They concentrated efforts on 14 of the 16 streets that Public Works Director Curtis Stacy had identified as areas to beautify. Beudet said she hopes to make Beautify Bronson Day a semi-annual event.

The spring event is planned to be tied to Earth Day, which is Friday, April 22, 2022. Here is some pre-cookout activity on Saturday at the event to beautify the town. Town Council members Robert Partin (left) and Tyler Voorhees are seen closest to the cooker.
